SEXUAL VIOLENCE PREVENTION CONFERENCE

"MOVING OUR COMMUNITIES UPSTREAM"

Thursday, January 24, 2019
7:30 a.m. – 5 p.m.

Desert Willow Conference Center
4340 East Cotton Center Boulevard
Phoenix, Arizona 85040

The Arizona Department of Health Services Sexual Violence Program is calling for a collective, upstream action across our communities to reduce sexual violence.

Funding is provided by CDC RPE Cooperative Agreement No. NUF2CE002415-05-00

🌟 Registration begins October 30, 2018 🌟

Dr. Thema Bryant-Davis is a licensed psychologist, ordained minister and sacred artist who has worked nationally and globally to provide relief and empowerment to marginalized persons. Dr. Thema, an associate professor at Pepperdine University, is a past president of the Society for Psychology of Women. Her contributions to psychological research, policy and practice have been honored by national and regional psychological associations. Dr. Thema earned her doctorate degree from Duke University in Clinical Psychology with a focus on the cultural context of trauma recovery as well as the intersection of gender and racial identity. In addition, Dr. Thema completed her post-doctoral training at Harvard Medical Center’s Victims of Violence Program. Dr. Thema is also a editor and co-editor books on recovery from sexual violence, spirituality and religion in women's lives and womanist and mujerista psychologies.

For program content questions, please contact Diana Lee at Diana.Lee@azdhs.gov