ENGAGING COMMUNICATION TECHNIQUES

Communication practices are critical factors in patient safety, quality and the overall patient experience. Nurse and Physicians must be partners with the hospital in improving communication practices that drive loyalty and higher quality.

Communication Awareness
- Be self-aware – of your style under stress
- Build rapport with team members, patients and family (AIDET)
- Introductions to self to everyone
- Returning to rooms regularly to inform patients and set expectations
- Sit while engaging in two way conversations
- Clarify team member’s and patients’ understandings
- Always show gratitude

Face-to-face Communication
- Pay attention to behaviors, body language and tone of voice
  - People focus most on your body language (55%), tone of voice (38%) and less to your words (7%) when speaking face to face
- Look for patterns
- Look for accelerating problems and avoid blaming
